June 2007

My dear Friends,

One of the CareNotes in the tract rack in the back of the church has propelled me to thinking about my pastoral responsibilities to you. The brochure is entitled “End-of-Life Concerns: A Guide for Families.”

The author begins by telling of his meeting in hospital with a young man in his mid’30’s who was facing death. His young wife and mother were with him, crying at the tragic news. In the midst of the sorrow and grief, the young family was plunged into the dynamics of talking about death. Death is a topic none of us looks forward to talking about – especially our own.

After reading the brochure, I realized that over the past year and a half, I have been terribly negligent in my duties as your pastor and priest. Aside from sermons at funerals, I have not been attentive to the issues of death and dying.

As you will read elsewhere in this newsletter, the wise priests and pastors who composed our magnificent Prayer Book were aware that there is a pervasive silence about death in our culture. So, they reminded the clergy of their duty to “instruct the people, from time to time, about the duty of...all persons to make wills, while they are in health...” In other words, to talk about end-of-life concerns. The purpose is to engage in a family conversation – yes, a conversation – about dying.

By dying I mean not only the making of wills and funeral directions but also a conversation about medical directives, continuing treatment, hospice care, closure to relationships. And, for young couples, there is the question of the care of children. Oh, gosh, just listing the issues is hard, but when you do you come to understand the necessity. I firmly believe that when a married couple, or family, has this conversation it has the potential to evoke a sense of love, care, and interdependence.

I highly recommend the brochure in the tract rack. It is very sensitive and helpful. Let me quote the author’s concluding paragraphs:

Our death is just that, it’s ours alone. Dying, however, doesn’t have to be a solitary event. You don’t have to do this alone, whether you are planning for your own death or caring for someone who is dying. The suggestions above can help lay the groundwork for someone to die in a way he or she chooses, comforted in knowing that he or she has done what was possible to prepare the way for a quiet and holy passage home to the Creator.

In June all parishioners will be receiving from me a letter that will include information and forms for medical directives, organ donation, health care proxy, funeral preparation, and preparing to write a will. I have established a file for you and your family at the Parish Office, and will keep your wishes there in a secure, confidential place. And, you know that I am always available to join you in making these plans, and participating in your family conversations and deliberations.

In closing, please accept my apologies for my inattention to this important pastoral role. Be assured that I will do all I can to assist you and your family in this open and honest conversation.

Charles A. Cesaretti

From Your Senior Warden

Our Annual Meeting was a wonderful opportunity to reflect on the many fulsome accomplishments of the past year. It was also a great chance to see what the plans are for the coming year. Yes, there are plans and yes, they are impressive. The plans can be seen in the many articles in this newsletter, in the weekly updates from St. Paul's, and in the Annual Meeting booklet (the Parish Office has extras).

For me, it was the enthusiasm, the "let's get to it" attitude, and the "we're on our way" approach that was most thrilling. In a few years, we have changed our perceptions, our expectations, and our participation. We are getting things done. We are present in our community of Montrose, Susquehanna County, and Northeastern PA. We are a community of faith eager and willing to share our talents, gifts and resources. This is ministry. This is forward progress. This is a church waiting, listening, and acting upon a belief that we are members of God's kingdom, here to do God's work.

Now, we need to define this mission clearly, so we can hold it, own it, and share it. The Strategic Planning Committee will be calling a meeting soon to begin that process—that process of writing and owning a mission. They will be asking all the programs, committees, teams and groups to take part in this process. I hope you'll be there!

My best to you,
Rachel

Fall Bazaar October 20, 2007

Start collecting things for the White Elephant room. They should be in good shape, clean, and in working condition when possible.

Crafts: It's the time to get creative. You don't have to make dozens of anything to bring to our craft table. We need a variety of items represented.

If you would like to host a craft meeting at Church over the summer, let me know. We will advertise and set up the meeting for you.

Fall and Christmas crafts are especially welcome.

HISTORIC ST. PAUL'S, MONTROSE CELEBRATES

80TH ANNIVERSARY OF PARISH HOUSE

On Sunday, May 27, Historic St. Paul's, Montrose, celebrated the 80th Anniversary of the dedication of the St. Paul's Parish House. The observance began with a special worship service at 10 AM in the Church, with special music provided by world-renowned singer Paul Spencer Adkins. The ceremony then moved to the Parish House, and concluded with brunch served in the Memorial Garden.

Samuel Dexter Warriner presented the Parish House to St. Paul's on May 29, 1927 in memory of his father the Rev. Edward Augustus Warriner. It was a grand service with Mr. George Watrous accepting the gift on behalf of the Parish, and the bishop of the Diocese of Bethlehem preached the dedication sermon.

Mr. Samuel Warriner was born in 1867, and was graduated from Lehigh University in 1890 with a degree in mining engineering. In 1912 he became president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co, and the Lehigh and New England Railroad. During World War I he was a member of the Council on National Defense and Fuel Administration.

Mr. Warriner chose to honor his father, Edward A. Warriner, who had been rector of St. Paul's for almost forty years. Originally admitted to the Connecticut Bar in 1857, the Rev. Mr. Warriner was ordained an Episcopal Priest in 1868, becoming rector of St. Paul's later that year. Edward Warriner was a Renaissance man – an accomplished author, poet, agrarian, community leader, and beloved pastor. At the 1927 dedication of the Parish House, attorney B. T. Brewster summarized the life, character, and ministry of Warriner: "He was then a young, active, alert fisher of men."

"In choosing to dedicate the Parish House to his father," opined Rachel Warriner Bartron, Senior Warden of St. Paul's, "Samuel Dexter Warriner made an important statement about his father and himself. First, he honored and celebrated the outstanding character and values of his father. Second, he chose to set in perpetuity his father's devotion and service to Montrose and its environs in the form of a place where the community could gather for education, refreshment, and fellowship."

ADULT FORUM EXPLORES HISTORY & THEOLOGY OF ANGLICANISM

The Adult Forum, which meets immediately after the worship service in the Parish House, has begun a series on the history and theology of Anglicanism.

Anglicanism is the term used to encapsulate the doctrine, religious belief, faith, practice, and system of the thirty-eight provinces that make up the Anglican Communion, including the Episcopal Church in the USA. The Anglican Communion is one of the world's largest Christian denominations with approximately 77 million members.

The Adult Forum will continue to meet throughout the summer months, following the worship service, with one Sunday a month break to allow the Daughter's of the King to meet. Please consult the Upcoming Events, page 1, for detailed meeting dates.

If you read Forward Day by Day, you are familiar with the daily citation for one of the dioceses of the Anglican Communion. We pray for one of the thirty-eight provinces of the Communion every Sunday.

To learn more about our world-wide Communion, join the Adult Forum on Sunday.

IT'S IN THE PRAYER BOOK

At the end of the wonderful service "A Thanksgiving for the Birth or Adoption of a Child," Prayer Book, page 445, there is a strong directive to the minister of the congregation:

"The Minister of the Congregation is directed to instruct the people, from time to time, about the duty of Christian parents to make prudent provision for the well-being of their families, and of all persons to make wills, while they are in health, arrange for the disposal of their temporal goods, not neglecting, if they are able, to leave bequests for religious and charitable uses."

Yes, it's in the Prayer Book. Check it out.

"For the past 80 years, St. Paul's has been living into the implications of the gift of Samuel Dexter Warriner," reports the Rev. Canon Charles A. Cesaretti, Priest-in-Charge of St. Paul's. "The gift is immeasurably more than bricks and mortar. It is a pearl of great price, reminding us constantly of our Lord's call to minister, to spiritual formation, to communion with God, and our neighbors. The Parish House holds up, and reminds us, to reflect upon and emulate the life and ministry of Edward Warriner, 'the fisher of men' – the very term Jesus used to describe his disciples."

The congregation of Historic St. Paul's gathered on Sunday, May 27, to celebrate the 80th anniversary of the dedication of the Parish House, and to rededicate it and themselves to the vision of its mission to the parish and the community articulated by the donor. Guest soloist for the worship service was Paul Spencer Adkins.

Adkins, no stranger to Historic St. Paul's, was the winner of the First Luciano Pavarotti International Voice Competition. He has performed in operatic roles both in the United States and abroad. His credits include television, and is senior lecturer for the University of Arts, Philadelphia. Adkins sang several solos during the ceremony, including selections from Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Church School Update

The scholars will celebrate a wonderful year of learning, growth, and fellowship on Sunday, June 10th as we hold closing festivities for the children. In preparation for this day, the children and Mrs. Washo have written their own second verse to "Joyful, joyful, we adore Thee"; I share it with you now:

We are church school; we are growing,
Learning of God's love for us
Adam, Eve, Noah, Moses,
Genesis and Exodus

Heifer Project to help families
Challenged to live everyday;
There is much to learn and do yet,
Grant us time to see the way!

These words summarize our year. We have studied the first two books of the Bible as well as looked deeply into the life and works of Jesus. The Heifer Project has kept us focused on the needs outside of our community allowing us to see how other children and families live. The children will be sending in money for another animal in June (I'll let you know what it was in the July newsletter). The children have grown very fond of one another and of our time together, and I have felt blessed to work with them each and every Sunday. We have learned much about one another and felt strengthened by our weekly meetings.

I thank all the parents and children for your regular contributions and your dedication to our time together. We have had wonderful attendance and growth this year. Though Sunday School will be on hold for the summer, we will plan a get together or two for the children and adults.

St. Paul's will begin a new year of Church School in September—hope to see you then!

College Bound

Congratulations to Nathan Syle, son of Brenda and Tom Syle, grandson of Mary Jane and Hap Syle on his choice of Penn State. He will be majoring in physics, and will be attending the main campus. We wish him well as he begins his college years.

Special Guest

On Sunday, June 10th, as part of the closing ceremonies of church school, Susan Klein of Nanticoke, PA will share her talents as a ventriloquist with our children and adults at the 10:30 am service. During the past 12 years, God has opened many doors for Susan, one being the creation of her own business, "Susan Klein and A Family of Friends," which has led to many opportunities to perform at schools, churches, hospitals, and civic organizations. One of her favorite Bible verses, Philippians 1:6, "He who began a good work in you will carry it through to completion."

Music is Love you can hear!

God is love! Music is love you can hear! What a joy it is that God allows us to make music! What a joy it is to worship the Lord through music and singing!

The acoustics in our Church are amazing: the Ekumen
Choir proved that. Now we are using them properly, too.
The choir has moved out from under the ridge in the ceiling that pulls our sound away from the congregation up to where the dome of the church pushes the sound out to the congregation and the Holy Spirit. Let the bells ring! "Ring out wild bells across the skies."

Let us make that "joyful noise." Let's do it well. Let's make God and each other happy with our sound!

HYMN STORY

In Christ, There is No East or West (Hymn 529)

Hymn 529 is an old favorite. The words are based on a poem by Rudyard Kipling, and the music is adapted from and African-American spiritual.*

In 1889, Rudyard Kipling published his poem, "The Ballad of East and West," which begins, "Oh, East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet."
The poem tells of Kamal, a man of India who steals an English Colonel's horse. The Colonel's son rides off in pursuit. The two men end up in a place where Kamal has the soldier at his mercy, but respects the young Englishman's courage and spares his life. The young Englishman, in turn, passes up a chance to use a hidden pistol with which he could have killed Kamal. Kipling's poem celebrates the possibility of mutual respect between people who are very different from each other.

Nine years after the poem was published, William Arthur Dunkerly (using the pen name John Oxenham) wrote the hymn, "In Christ There is No east or West."
The occasion was a great missionary exhibition sponsored by the London Missionary Society.

The hymn, which gets its inspiration from Kipling's poem, takes Kipling's idea a step farther. it reminds us that Christ brings all sorts of people together "in one great fellowship of love." (adapted from Dick Donovan)

*Always check the bottom left of the hymn to find its author and composer.

Communications in and around St. Paul's

So much is happening at St. Paul's. It is a constant job to keep everyone updated before we move on and there is something new to report. "News and Views from St. Paul's" started 10, yes 10 years ago, when Rev. Henry Pease retired. We grew from 4 pages, frequently with clip art thrown in, to 10 pages with little clip art. Beside myself, there is Esther Welden left from the original group that started the newsletter. The newsletter goes out to nearly 240 families, churches, and those who have expressed interest in what is happening. It could not be printed without the input and help that so many give. Thank you.

We will always continue to communicate to you with the newsletter, phone, email, and/or letter. You will soon have the opportunity to hear all the events happening and so much more on the new web page. Yes folks! St. Paul's has a web site. Father Charles has taken us into the 21'st century! Check it out. It is <http://www.stpaulschurchmontrose.org/index.new.html>

BARBARA SHINGLER ELECTED TO VESTRY

Barbara Shingler was elected a member of the St. Paul's Vestry at the recent Annual Parish Meeting. A life-long resident of the area, Barbara retired after thirty-one years of teaching in the Montrose Area School District. She has two children, six grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren. Her hobbies include reading and knitting. Barbara is a faithful attendant at the 8 AM service, and during the summer attends the 5:30 PM service at St. Matthews.

Barbara joins the Vestry Class of 2010.

MARY JANE SYLE RETIRES FROM VESTRY

After serving the full nine year term as Vestry Member, Mary Jane Syle has retired from the vestry. She has played a pivotal role in the leadership of our parish. Mary Jane continues as our delegate to the Diocesan Convention. She is active in the parish's and diocese's Daughter of the Kings, and the Episcopal Church Women. Mary Jane and Hap Syle have been appointed by the Vestry to oversee the ministry at St. Matthew's, Stevensville.

FROM THE ARCHIVES

For hundreds of years, priests celebrated the Eucharist with their backs to the nave. Eventually someone decided that the congregation was really a part of the celebration, and the altar was moved from the wall. This permitted the priest, finally, to face the altar and the congregation during the service.

In 1972 St. Paul's Vestry was asked to consider moving the altar. Vestry made a visit to the sanctuary and decided that there was simply not enough room to move the altar without interfering with the Eucharist. After further consideration, however, vestry decided on a short trial period, and the altar was moved; it's been there ever since. At first, Vestry received several letters objecting to the new arrangement, but finally people began to get used to the idea of seeing the priest's face during Communion.

Now chances are, if the altar were moved back to the wall, many people would say, "But we haven't done it that way before!"

Plant your Garden!

What kind of garden do you grow?

Remember to grow it with love.

St. Paul's BoSA goes on the road

Fr. Edward Erb, rector of St. John's in Hamlin, Pa., asked the Brotherhood of St. Andrew (BoSA) of St. Paul's to staff a table at St. John's "Ministry Day" on June 3 after their 10:00 am service. (Remember Fr. Erb from the April Newsletter that noted Fr. Erb came to St. Paul's to discuss Lectio Divina (LD). Isn't it a small world?)

Joe Weldon and Al Leigh will be at the table June 3rd. Contact with the BoSA main office in Ambridge, Pa. has several items of interest coming, such as a table skirt with the BoSA logo and several BoSA newsletters. Lectio Divina and St. Paul's September 14th and 15th workshops will be described in a brochure being assembled, printed and mailed by the Eastern Region Director, Roseanne Havird, to people in five eastern states.

On September 15th there will be a "light lunch" at the LD workshop. Does anyone have a favorite recipe for split pea and/or mushroom soup? What about your favorite sandwich? You will get credit for the mouth-watering dish that will be provided to weary and hungry travelers. Let Al Leigh know (278-0205), or drop it off at the church for him. Samples are always good!

The LD brochure states, in part, "(LD) is a way of listening to the texts of scripture as if we were in conversation with Christ and He was suggesting the topics of conversation. It is listening with the 'ear' of the heart. The daily encounter with Christ and reflection on His Word leads beyond the mere acquaintanceship to an attitude of friendship, trust and love. LD leads us to communion, or as Gregory the Great (6th C.) summarizing the Christian contemplative tradition says, 'resting in God'."

Remember.... Service times change for the summer. There is only one service on Sundays starting June 17—Father's Day.

One service at 9 AM

The first Sunday of every month is the time we bring in food and other necessities for the Food Bank. There are always people who need items and you can make it a little easier for them by helping to put items on the shelves at the Community Food Bank. Paper items, peanut butter, jelly, tuna fish, cereal, baby food etc are some suggestions. You can help those less fortunate.

Ordinary and Extraordinary Giving

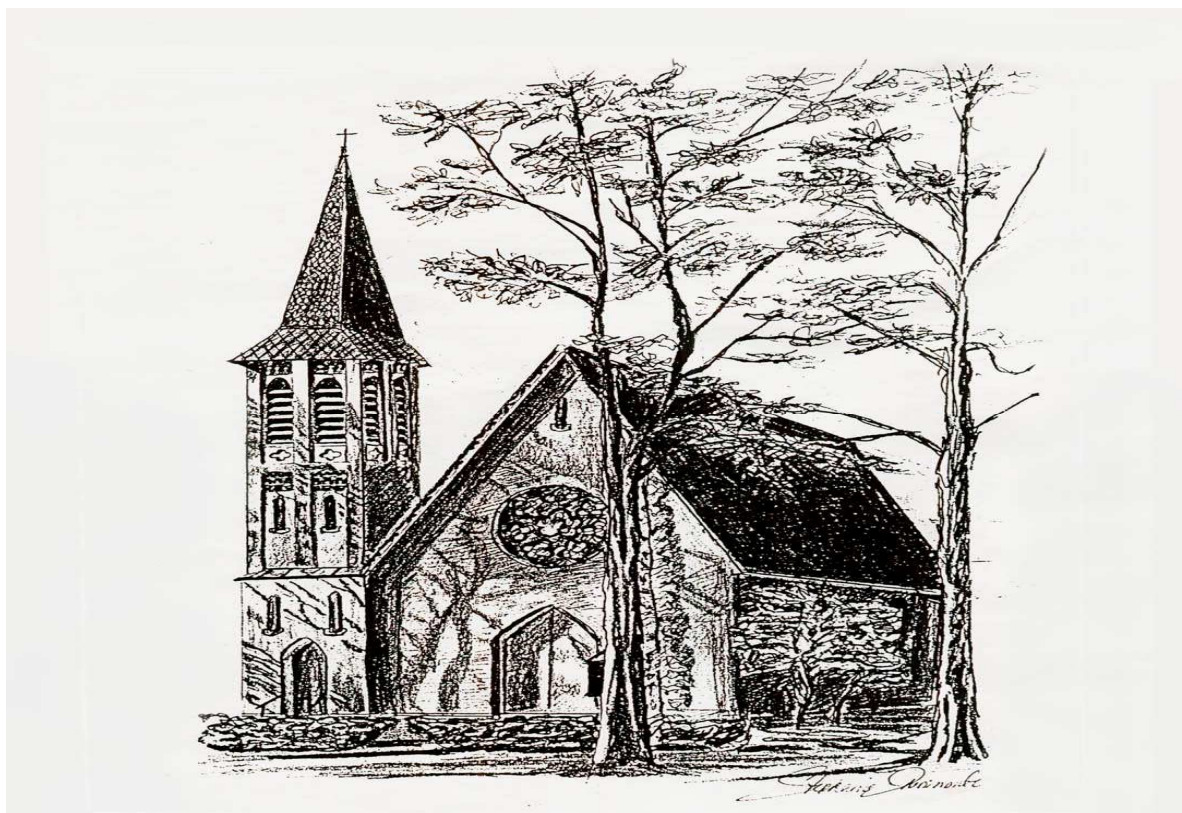

Parishes count on regular, ongoing, and reliable annual gifts, and hope that they will increase from year to year. The parish annual giving campaign is often called the "Every-Member Canvass," "Annual Appeals," or more recently, the "Stewardship Canvass." Annual gifts are given in response to an awareness that good work is being done, and they are typically given from a family's income. In making annual gifts, people often want to know exactly how the parish is using the money.

We thank you for giving to the annual appeals, to capital campaigns, and through planned or deferred gifts. Translated into "Church language," this becomes ordinary, extraordinary, and ultimate giving.

Extraordinary giving is when we have a specific project such as replacing the roof, windows, organ, or endowing a scholarship fund. These are usually time-restricted. They are often made as pledges, to be paid in annual installments, seldom over more than five years, and may be made from income or appreciated securities.

Next month learn more about your planned giving to St. Paul's. One can never say thanks enough, and your giving is a way to thank God for the many things He has given you.
